

NPC JOURNAL 2015: ERRATA

(Version 2, August 2016)

Despite our best efforts a few minor errors or omissions inevitably crept into the 2015 Northern Pennine Club Journal. The ones which have emerged since publication so far are listed below and we apologise for any confusion these may have caused.

Page iii (Contents list) - and possibly elsewhere; “Easegill” should correctly be typed “Ease Gill” (just in case anyone isn’t sure exactly where we mean!)

Page 25 thanks the “Metcalf” family at Rainscar (Fountains Fell). This should of course be the Coates family. (We’re grateful to Dave Hodgson, who was the first of several people to mention this.)

Page 33 - a useful additional reference to go with the article “The Earl Pot / Sting Pot Chronicles” is ULSA Review 14 (1976) page 12. (Thanks to Helen Sergeant for pointing this out.)

Page 73 - To clarify; Mike Wooding only free climbed the entrance pitch of Bar Pot as the big pitch was still rigged. (With thanks to Gordon Coldwell and John Gardner for information.)

Page 76 - the list of references for the Gaping Gill free climbs article should have included: “Baxter-Jones R, 1973, “The Pit and the Pendulum”. Leeds University Climbing Club Journal 1973, pages 27 & 28”. (Andrew Latimer kindly reminded me about this; thanks.)

John Cordingley, 09-08-16